Camille Renouard joined JP Karsenty in January 2025 as a trainee lawyer, before continuing as an associate.

As a lawyer, she works in general criminal law, press law, business criminal law and civil liability.

Camille holds a bachelor's degree in private law and also obtained a Master II in criminal law – criminology, completed on a work-study basis at a criminal law firm, a university degree in juvenile criminal justice, and a certificate in criminal sciences. She completed her entire academic career at Paris-Panthéon-Assas University.

Before joining JP Karsenty, Camille completed numerous internships at various law firms, including two renowned Parisian firms, where she trained in press law, criminal business law, self-defense, and, more broadly, the management of high-stakes cases with significant media exposure. She also completed an internship at the Court of Cassation, which allowed her to deepen her practice, particularly in civil procedure.

Camille is involved in all stages of criminal proceedings, before all criminal courts—both for victims and defendants—and regularly pleads before each of them.
