Industrial Risks

Industrial risks are an inherent part of the life of many companies. Their managers must put in place a strategy and actions to ensure optimal protection against these risks, both for its employees, its customers and suppliers.

JP Karsenty has developed a solid and global approach, mixing the legal and technical aspects regularly presented by the files related to industrial risks to identify, anticipate and manage them. Its teams thus deliver their advice with the objective of responding to the real practice of the concerned sector of activity.

JP Karsenty offers various expertise through its teams who work in close collaboration to ensure the defense of its clients. The criminal law, insurance and litigation teams regularly work together to ensure a cross-functional approach, taking into account all of their clients' issues.
